Roof Consultant Services

Independent roof consultants are specialists who stand apart from suppliers, product manufacturers, and contractors. They are unbiased experts who maintain industry-wide knowledge of materials and their performance and integration requirements.

A qualified roof consultant is knowledgeable about every facet of the roof construction process and serves as the building owner’s advocate and advisor for matters pertaining to both existing and new construction.

Roof consultants are roof maintenance experts.

- Failure investigations and remediation
- Repair or replacement decisions
- Service-life assessments
- Maintenance management programs
- Expert witness testimony

Roof consultants are new and reroofing experts.

They can provide design, material selection, and quality assurance services with consideration for:

- Overall service life and composite life costing
- Integration with existing building components
- Code compliance
- Warranty validation
- Energy efficiency
- Wind uplift, snow loading, thermal absorption, drainage, etc.

When contemplating your next new construction or reroofing project, consider the value of an independent roof consultant to assist and guide you through the prebid, bidding, design, and installation process.

A roof can be one of the costliest capital expense decisions a facility manager can make. An objective roof design chosen from best possible materials, coupled with experienced project management and installation oversight, can make the difference between a low-maintenance, long-lived roof or one laden with problems and premature failure.

Amortized over the lifespan of a high-performance roof, a consultant’s services will often prove less than the burden of additional maintenance and premature replacement. Add to that the intangible value of having an expert to advise your decision-making, chaperone the bidding process, and quality-assure the installation, and a consultant’s services will surely prove worthwhile.
